30 Turn Out for Columbus Bureau

"Stronger Farm Organization" Topic of County President Huskey

Thirty farm members attended the regular monthly meeting of the Columbus Local Farm Bureau, Monday night, June. The meeting was presided over by C. W. Wilson, president, and Tom H. Stuart, secretary and treasurer.

H. H. Huskey president of the Hempstead County Farm Bureau, talked to the group on "Stronger Farm Organization." He explained how some of the other Farm Bureaus in Northwest Arkansas are organized against fire, flood and other disasters.

Clifford L. Smith, county agent, talked on possibilities of the livestock program in Hempstead county, farmers first to sod their pastures to bermuda and seed them to Burr clover, and Lespedeza. He stated that no farmer could expect to have a normal pasture unless the pasture was mowed, since all weeds in this section propagate from seed that could be easily eradicated by mowing prior to the time the seed matured.

The group entered into a general discussion on how the present Farm Program could be changed to benefit the needs of the farmers in the Columbus community. The following results were adopted:

- That cotton allotments should be gotten out to the farmers by or before January 1 of each year.
- That farmers within a given county should have the power to vote as to whether or not administrative areas should be set up. Under the present program this power is in the hands of the three County Committees.
- That if a percentage factor is to be used in determining the cotton allotment on a basis of the cultivated land that this factor should be used on the basis of the performance for the year in which the program is in effect.

The group went on record as favoring three phases of pending legislation:

- The continuation of 3¢ per cent interest on land in the Federal Land Bank.
- Provisions for farmers marketing vegetable products and poultry to be able to enact the marketing agreement act.
- To appropriate the $212,000,000 to pay subsidy on cotton and other farm products for the year 1938.

Gillette Leads

DES MOINES, Iowa.—(AP)—Senator Guy M. Gillette, target of New Deal forces during the campaign, Monday night held an early lead over Representative Otha D. Wearin on meager returns from the state's 2,447 precincts in the Iowa senatorial primary.

Lloyd Thurston, Republican congressman, trailed former Senator L. J. Dickinson in the Republican senatorial race.

Returns from 171 of Iowa's 2,447 precincts gave:

Democratic Senator:

|------------|-------|
| Byerhoff | 353 |
| Gillette | 4,252 |
| Meyers | 832 |
| Richardson | 673 |
| Wearin | 2,517 |

Returns from 154 of 2,447 precincts in the Republican senatorial race gave:

|-----------|-------|
| Dickinson | 7,313 |
| Thurston | 5,608 |

From the larger national standpoint the Iowa electorate ruled in the Democratic primary on the political effectiveness of James Roosevelt, son and secretary of the president; WPA Chief Harry L. Hopkins and Thomas Corcoran, New Deal strategist, Wearin, who campaigned on the claim that the national administration was supporting his candidacy, dike tacit support of James Roosevelt and the outright endorsement of Hopkins.

All the "outside" participation, however, was not limited to assistance for Wearin. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a last minute telegram advised the working man to support Gillette. Senators Wheeler and Barrah and other colleagues of Gillette, raised a furious storm in Washington after Hopkins announced he would have voted for Wearin "if I lived in Iowa."

Senatorial criticism of "playing politics with relief" caused observers to watch closely for election trends attributable to the 33,500 WPA workers on the rolls in this state.

The Hopkins endorsement also had its repercussions in Iowa. Gov. Nelson Kraschel telegraphed the WPA official his "resentment" at the latter's "interference" in the Iowa race. Iowa's Treasurer Leo J. Wegman, however, a Wearin campaign aide, flew Kraschel's statement with a telegram of commendation to Hopkins for his Wearin stand.

Two Entered Bank While Third Remained at Sedan's Wheel

BRADLEY, Ark.—(AP)—Three bandits held up the Bank of Bradley here shortly after it opened Tuesday and escaped with $385.25 in cash.

Jack Meek, bank cashier, said the three bandits fled toward Louisiana in a sedan bearing Louisiana license plates.

Meek said two of the bandits, armed with pistols, entered the bank. The third remained at the wheel of the car.

Meek said he had just removed the cash from the vault and reset the time-lock. He said a much larger sum of money was protected by this arrangement.

Later, Chairman Norton, New Jersey Democrat, of the house conference group, indicated the house conferees would join in the proposal.

The house appropriations committee Tuesday approved $35,802,000 for starting the billion-dollar naval expansion program.

This item was part of the $274,228,728 omnibus money bill on which the house immediately began debate after receiving the committee report.

Leaders hoped consideration of the measure would be completed late Wednesday.

The bill would permit beginning work on 19 naval vessels, including two 35,000-ton battleships.

Four Others Are Out of Danger, Physicians Report

Physicians at Josephine hospital said Tuesday afternoon that four of five persons injured in a head-on collision of two automobiles northeast of Hope Monday were out of danger—but the fifth person remained in a critical condition.

She is Mrs. W. A. Hoffman of Chicago. Physicians described her injuries as:

Broken jaw, fractured skull, both knee caps broken, and right and left legs broken. Mrs. Hoffman's husband has a broken right ankle and broken right knee cap.

The general condition of all five persons is somewhat improved, physicians said.

The other three persons in the accident, all of one family, are Mrs. Robert E. Davenport, her son Robert E. Davenport, Jr., 26, and daughter Miss Dorothy Davenport, 21, all of Norfolk, Va.

The daughter sustained a broken right knee cap, cuts and bruises, the son Robert, a lacerated lip. The mother, Mrs. Davenport, was shocked and bruised.

Lieutenant Colonel Robert E. Davenport, Sr., husband and father of the injured Davenport family is due to arrive in Hope Tuesday night from San Diego, Calif., where he has been stationed recently because of ill health. Mr. Davenport is a United States naval officer with headquarters at the Norfolk, Va., naval yards.

The accident occurred at 2:30 p. m. Monday six miles northeast of Hope on paved Highway 67. The Hoffman car was headed east toward Little Rock, the Davenport automobile heading west toward Hope.

It was reported the Hoffman car attempted to pass another car on an incline and collided head-on with the Davenport automobile.

The accident was reported to have been more than honor for the president of the student body at the University of Texas next year.

Sheriff S. J. McCollum said the shooting was witnessed by two Magnolia men, and a large number of people were within a few yards of the car.

Barnett told the men that he was going to kill himself, the sheriff said. "He pulled out a pistol and fired a bullet through his head. I don't think an inquest will be necessary."

Barnett was widely known in south Arkansas. He built the high school there several years ago, and did much work in and around Pine Bluff.

Principles in Practice Make Big News

We would be a pretty fine people if we could live up to our professed principles. We talk very sensibly indeed, but there usually is a pretty big gap between the way we talk and the way we act.

For a sample, there is the capital-and-labor business. We are very fond of saying that there is no real, basic conflict between capital and labor, that their interests are in the long run identical and that the sensible thing is to recognize that fact and behave accordingly.

Yet so rarely do representative leaders of capital and labor act on that theory that when they do it becomes front page news.

A GOOD deal of attention has been drawn to the fact that in San Francisco on June 3, leaders of the business community and of the C. I. O. are going to hold a big mass meeting to see if some peaceable and mutually profitable way of getting along together cannot be found.

The background of that meeting is interesting. The last four years of San Francisco's "labor history" have been more than a little stormy; so this spring a group of industrial leaders appointed a committee to study industrial relations and work out a program to restore and preserve peace.

This committee, after a good deal of preliminary work, invited the labor leaders to join in creating a "parliament of public opinion" to minimize bitterness and strife. At first the labor people were suspicious; but after a time the suspicion disappeared and now we have the unusual and highly gratifying spectacle of C. I. O. bigwigs sitting down with industrial bigwigs to work out some plan by which capital and labor can get along and prosper together.

WHAT will come of this meeting is, of course, open to speculation. Maybe the whole plan will fall through, and San Francisco's valiant effort to obtain a fair peace will come to nothing. But the important thing is that the effort is at least being made.

Yet it is strange, when you stop to think about it, that the fact that this effort is being made should be news.

These San Franciscans, after all, are doing nothing more than acting on a principle we all give lip-service to—the principle that capital and labor are going in the same direction and can help each other get there.

If that principle is true, as we all say it is, why aren't there more movements like this one on the west coast?

Wouldn't our national future be immeasurably brighter if we could just live up to our principles instead of merely talking about them?

Symbol at Work

TREATIES, agreements, alliances, acknowledged or merely understood, tend to lose their quality of reality in the public mind and become mere cartoon symbols unless they happen to evidence themselves in some startling, dramatic manner.

The other day Paris wanted urgently to communicate with Prague by telephone. It tried to call through two channels. The first was transmission through Germany; the second, through Italy. Neither could be obtained. German and Italian telephone officials refused to transmit the call.

Contact was finally made by telephoning first through Germany to Warsaw—made possible by international agreement—and then having the call transmitted to Czechoslovakia.

The Italian and German refusals of transmission cut France off from eastern Europe for a period of hours.

That sudden, calculated isolation must have brought the Rome-Berlin axis before the eyes of the French with such a semblance of reality that they must have felt they could almost put out their hands and touch it.

The Occurrence of Tuberculosis Among Children, and Young People

Not long ago it was the common understanding that at least 90 per cent of children had been infected with tuberculosis before they were 10 to 12 years old, so that practically all of them reacted to the test with tuberculin when they reached the 'teen' ages. Now, by testing a great number of children, it has been found that the incidence of early childhood infection has been diminished.

There are still, however, a good many possibilities for infection of children of the 'teen' ages who have come through infancy and childhood without being infected.

These children are just as likely to get the disease in the period from 14 to 20 as they would have been in a previous generation in the years from two to 10. Indeed, there are elements of resistance in childhood that are lacking in the adult, and tuberculosis tends to be more serious in the adult than in the child.

The only right attitude toward tuberculosis, therefore, is to endeavor to get the maximum protection for people of all ages against this disease. Fortunately we now have methods of diagnosing tuberculosis in the earliest stages, and we are able to bring about more rapid healing than was possible in a previous generation.

In the protection of young people against tuberculosis, it is important to realize that the chief source of in-

About Mortimer, Busby, Bing, Charlie, Wesley, and a Few Others

HOLLYWOOD—All over the lot: On a set for "Garden of the Moon," but with neither garden nor moon in evidence, John Payne is singing to Margaret Lindsey. He is supposed to be singing to the accompaniment of a phonograph, but the movies even fake phonograph music, and the record that Payne puts on the instrument is a bit of a night club crowded with extras.

Ready for a rehearsal, Donald happens to prod Crosby in the ribs as he is taking a drink of water. This causes Bing to spout water into the footlights, and one of the bulbs explodes. The accident is so funny that Director Wesley Ruggles decides to film it that night.

With a song is called "Love Is Where You Find It," and his performance is supposed to be gay and lighty burlesque. But the actor doesn't seem light-hearted enough to suit Director Busby Berkley, so the director goes in and acts and sings the scene himself, gesturing, smiling at the attractive Miss Lindsey, going to his knees before her at the finish.

Cheerful Mr. Berkley must be a good actor, because only this morning he has been served notice to defend himself against a $250,000 alienation-of-affections suit. He is charged with piffling the love of Carole Landis, a dancer whom he has directed in musicals. But he doesn't seem worried or self-conscious now, as he sings "Love Is Where You Find It."

Enter Merlin, of the Buck Teeth Charlie McCarthy has a competitor in "A Letter of Introduction." The rival's screen name is Mortimer, but his night club name was Elmer. He is a tow-headed, grotesque rube with buck teeth and no brains at all, and he seems wholly out of place against the background of Edger Bergen's slick appearance and patter. Charlie hates Mortimer calls him an oaf and an uncoordinated peasant.

Before McCarthy gets too uppity he should be reminded that he was just a wise-cracking guttersnipe originally, and that he was almost abandoned by Bergen when vaudeville died. Bergen went to work in night clubs, and he didn't want to take along an urchin. Instead of designing a new dummy though, he polished up Charles with white tie and topper.

Mortimer doesn't have much to do in the picture, so McCarthy isn't especially jealous. A brash little baggage called Peggy also was tested for a dummy role, but she didn't film well, mix it.

Children need to be happy, not only in their dream worlds, but actually. They need good rousing fun. They need tasks not too hard, that react on their sense of importance. They need health and erts and love and security.

That is why they have cornered the world's masters of music, 70 per cent of whom are in America," he said.

British-Born Conductor Praised Love of Music

This, Too, Will Pass

This, too, will pass, o heart, say it over and over;
at the deepest sorrow, out of your grief,
No hurt can last forever—perhaps to-morrow
Will bring relief.
This, too, will pass. It will spend itself—its fury
Will die as the wind dies down with the setting sun;
Soothed and calm, you will rest again, forgetting.
A thing that is done,
Repeat it again, and again. O heart
for your comfort;
This, too, will pass, as surely as passed before
The old forgotten pain, and the other sorrows
That once you bore.
As certain as stars at night, or dawn after darkness,
Inherent in the lift of the blowing grass.
Whatever your despair or your frustration—
This, too, will pass.

A Radio in Every Home Is Program in Turkey

ISTANBUL.—(AP)—Dictator Kemal Ataturk, already busy with Turkey's big rearmament program, now wants a radio in every home as part of his nation-wide educational plan.

Every train and station in the state railroad system is being equipped with a receiving set.

The government also plans reduction of import duties on radios until Turkish factories can produce sets at prices the poorest laborer can afford.

Will Leave Hope

By not voting, it automatically means a vote against removal.

"You vote simply this Saturday on whether the courthouse site is to remain at Washington or to be moved to Hope. If the people vote for removal the county judge then will employ an architect to draw up plans and specifications for the building—and then the people vote at a second election—at the next general election—on these plans and specifications and the cost.

"Put your whole thought and effort behind this movement. Get up early Saturday and stay on the job. It would be mighty bad to read in the paper that we failed to get this job done."

"We have fine schools, churches and other public buildings in Hope that we are proud of. It is up to us to live up to this tradition as a progressive community. You will be voting against your own interest by not voting in favor of the courthouse removal. If the courthouse were located in Hope it would be more convenient and accessible to the biggest majority of the people living in Hempstead County. No one will argue different. Don't pass up the best opportunity we ever had."

"In concluding I want to say that you vote on the 1936 poll tax receipt, paid, anytime before or on June 15, 1937."

Luther F. Higgins

"Don't get it into your head that Washington isn't working. Andrew Stroud has more energy than any man I ever saw. We've got plenty to do before Saturday—just plenty of work. Now is the time to get out among the voters and get this thing talked up before 6:30 Saturday afternoon."

The question of closing business houses during the election Saturday was brought up—but it was agreed among the group to allow all employees time off before 1 p. m. Saturday to cast their ballot. One business man said that he intended to have a meeting of his employees Tuesday night at which time the courthouse removal question would be discussed among the group.

Motor Tong Explained
Sid Bundy was the next speaker and discussed the two-day motor tour over the county Wednesday and Thursday. The use of 27 automobiles was pledged among the group. The tour will start from Hope city hall at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. All persons having cars and wishing to join the tour are urged to do so.

R. P. Bowen said, "We can win this election if we work—but it's going to take work from now until the polls close. Let's win and save $100,000."

Mr. Bowen also called attention to the fact that Hope chamber of commerce would furnish automobiles to carry voters to the polls and also to Washington to obtain absentee ballots.

Mayor Albert Graves said:

"Don't miss a single chance to talk up this election. If you know of any absentee votes that can be obtained let's get them. They all count. If we all work together we will be successful."

Chairman John L. Wilson then called attention to the fact that absentees

SUMMER PICTURE STORIES

In picturing summer romances, keep the romance! Don't let your subjects pose stiffly or smile at the camera!

I T'S a camera axiom that every picture should tell a story. Will you remember that this summer when you are snapping pictures of friends and their summer activities?

Nothing is easier than to get a member of your crowd to "stand over by that bush while I snap your picture." But that sort of picture-taking doesn't produce the best kind of pictures—because such pictures don't "say" anything.

It's easy to go on a picnic with Bill and Janet Smith and get snapshots of them standing by a bush or a tree, smiling for the camera. But it's more fun, and makes better pictures, to catch Janet feeding Bill a huge slice of chocolate cake, or get Bill helping Janet over a barbed-ballots must be applied for in person or in writing. The ballots can be obtained from the county clerk's office.

Royce Weisenberger urged the group to put forth much effort toward making the molendore of the county a big success. "We ought to have at least 100 automobiles—the more automobiles the more interest," Mr. Weisenberger said.

Mr. Bowen said that the cars used in the tour would display banners. It will be necessary to gather at the city hall lawn at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning in order that the banners may be placed on the cars and for the motorcycle to depart on time.

Forty-five members of the Hope Boys band under the direction of Thomas Cannon will furnish music during the tour. The band cancelled reservations for a summer outing to make the trip.

Mr. Bowen said anyone who can go is invited. There will be plenty of cars for everyone. The tour will arrive in Ozan at 1 p. m. Wednesday for a free luncheon there by the ladies of the Ozan Methodist and Baptist churches.

If you have a car and the husband will be unable to make the trip, we will be glad for any lady to go along," Mr. Bowen said.

War Admiral Wins Queens Handicap

Charley Kurtsinger Brings Home Racer Length Ahead of Snark

NEW YORK—(AP)—War Admiral, unbeaten since his final start of 1936, finally returned to competition Monday but it was the same old story as the little son of Man o' War turned in one of his greatest performances to win the Queens County Handicap at the opening of Aqueduct.

The Admiral, scratched unexpectedly from the Suburban Handicap last week after his $100,000 match race with Stealbiscuit had been cancelled, was greeted by mingled boos and cheers when he paraded in front of the crowd of 12,000. But there were only cheers when Charley Kurtsinger drove him home a length in front of the Wheatley Stable's Snark, winner of the Suburban.

Flying Samuel D. Riddle's yellow and black silks, the Admiral packed 132 pounds, the heaviest weight he has ever carried, over the mile in 1:36 4/5 for his 11th straight triumph. The time was only four-fifths of a second off the track record set by John P. Grier, a speed demon back in the days of Admiral's daddy.

The Riddle star was the 11 to 20 choice in a field reduced to four by the scratchings of Mythical King and Rex Flug. His share of the purse was $425 and ran his earnings for the year to $54,950 and for his career to $236,050.

War Admiral had to be at his best to win in front of him for a half-mile as had the fast stepping Rudie from W. H. Gallagher's stable and right behind behind for the last three-eighths was Snark, which had won the Suburban in near record time. At the finish, Rudie had dropped back to last as Danger Point came up to take third, eight lengths behind Snark. The Admiral broke in front, but he stayed there only for a few strides as Rudie swung into the rail.

Once they straightened out for home, the Admiral showed his class. He opened up a length and a half advantage, whirled past the six-furlong pole in 1:11 2/3 and staved off Snark's great bid. Snark drew within a length of his conqueror and eight-mile out but he got no closer as Kurtsinger handrode the Admiral home.

"How is it he never takes you to the theater any more?"

"Well, one evening it rained and we sat in the parlor at home."

Soil Building
One of the best ways to take advantage of the provisions of the AAA farm program for soil building is to plant summer legumes, such as cowpeas, mung beans, soybeans, crotalaria, and bur clover.

The many acres in oats this spring will soon be ready for seeding to another crop, following the oat harvest.

Summer Sewing
Sewing machines are humming a thrifty tune in the homes of Hempstead county home demonstration and 4-H club members, turning out summer garments, by the dozen. More than 200 club members in the county are enrolled in clothing demonstrations this year.

The machines have to be in good condition if high quality work is to result. One of the common disorders is skipping stitches. According to Earl L. Arnold, extension agricultural engineer of the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture, if a sewing machine skips stitches, it is probable that the needle is improperly placed in the machine or it is of the wrong length.

When the needle is inserted, it should be turned so that the long groove which extends from the shank to the eye is on the side of the needle so that the thread enters as the eye is threaded. Mr. Arnold explains, "If the operator is so unfamiliar with the machine that she does not know from which side the needle is threaded, then turn the shuttle hook passes the needle on the side opposite the long groove."

If the needle is of the proper length, the shuttle hook will pass the needle about 1 1/16 inch above the eye. This can readily be determined by turning the machine slowly by hand and watching the point of the shuttle hook and soybeans and soybean products for the farm table are becoming better known each year, he said.

Crotalaria has no value for food or feed, since stock will not eat it. However, Mr. Simmons said, when it is planted at the rate of about 4 or 5 pounds per acre, about the time corn is laid by, it is the best soil-building crop of any of the summer legumes.

Leaving summer legumes on the land is a practice for which payments are made under the farm program. A certain sum of money is available for soil-building practices on each farm. A specified performance in connection with one of these practices is expressed as a "unit," and each "unit" carried out earns $1.50 up to the farm allowance. Each acre planted entirely to summer legumes or each two acres where the legume is interplanted with a soil-depleting crop, counts as one "unit"; therefore, the operating farmer will receive a payment of $1.50 for each acre of summer legumes which he leaves on the land. If he harvests the crop for hay, he does not get a soil-building payment for that practice, but the value of his hay may offset the loss of the soil-building payment, the agronomist pointed out.

Summer Wardrobe
Hempstead county clothing manufacturers are busy planning their summer wardrobes.

Mrs. D. M. Collier, Oak Grove Home Demonstration club, Mrs. Fred Camp, Oak Grove Home Demonstration club, Mrs. A. G. Zimmerman, Melrose Home Demonstration club, and Mrs. J. M. Perryman, Melrose Home Demonstration club, are doing special wardrobe planning for their entire families.

"It's smart this year to plan the wardrobe around a basic dress," according to Miss Sue Marshall, extension specialist in clothing and household arts.

University of Arkansas College of Agriculture. This should be a dress of good quality and design and of neutral color that looks attractive with all their accessories. Hats, gloves, shoes, purses, and other accessories can be added to suit the occasion.

It pays to buy a few garments of good quality and design, wear them hard to get the service from them before the style changes, and then discard them, Miss Marshall points out.

The basic dress may be varied by the type of collars, cuffs, belts, flowers, and scarfs that are worn with it. It may be worn winter and summer by making changes in accessories.

For street wear, shopping, or sports wear, an ascot scarf and belt of the same color or collar and cuffs of harmonizing colored pique, crepe or linen are suitable. For church wear, a lace collar and cuff set with a belt of a soft material tied in a soft knot will be attractive. For party or best wear, a flower and sash of the matching color, beads and sash of the cloth used for the dress, like a ruffled jabot and collar of organdy, lace, or georgette makes anyone feel dressed for the occasion. Jeweled clips used at the neckline and belt can also be used for party wear, Miss Marshall suggests.

A basic dress with a vestee also offers many possibilities. The vestee may be used, or a tailored linen or pique vest. A shirred piece of silk, or a ruffled jabot may also be used with such a dress.
